Congress.
In the Senate yesterday some good things were said, as for instance Mr. HALE's hit at Gen. FOOTE. Mr. Houston delivered a speech in favor of the Union. No votes were passed.

The House was engaged in debating the bill for the collection of the Revenue, but no result was arrived at.

The Evening Post's essertions that " it has been decided that the existing contract [for Mail services between this City and Chagres | has been forfeited," and twenty more such, would have been more conclusive if sustained by evidence. Being only assertions, they amount to nothing. We all know that a contract was made, and that the service has been performed under it with essential fidelity and punctuality. It was never stipulated nor expected that the Mails should be conveyed direct from Chagres to New-York; the contract expressly providing for delivery at Havana and New-Orleans intermediately. If New-York had seen fit to insist on being first served, no matter how others might fare, she should have made the point when Congress was discussing the bill. It w have suited us admirably to have had the matter so erdered, and we venture to say its consequence to us would have been ten times as much as to the Post. We should have been very glad to have received and answered on Thursday our California letters now on their way hither via New-Orleans. but we know that the contract made two years since forbade the hope of so doing, and do not blame the Postmaster General for a matter over which he has no rightful control. We know, too, that the Contractors here have now built and put on the line two of the finest and best boats (Ohio and Georgis) in the world, and we cannot see her the contract can now be justly modified, at less by anything short of a selemn judicial decision-When and where has such been pronounced in validating the Sloo contract? We do not regard mere judicial dictum in a case not directly involing this point conclusive. Now it is true that the Postmaster General might order the Mails for this end of the Union brought from Chagres in the direct steamer of the contract or's rivals; but if those rivals carried the mail they would certainly expect to be paid, as the Post sneakingly admits. The P. M. General has no appropriation from which he is authorized to pay for such service ; but Congress is in session, and might direct it to be done in half an hour. W. wish Congress would do it, but we do not think a Head of Department would be justified in running up a heavy bill by taking the Mails from a ling ! which a law of Congress had confined them, at giving them to a rival, in the face and eyes of Congress in session. The Government always has to pay high for a service performed without express agreement as to price, and all such ser vice should be avoided wherever possible.

The Nicarangua Treaty.

Correspondence of the Commercial Advertises.

Washington, Feb. 7, 1850.

I presume you will receive by telegraph an inspanished contradiction of the runners that have been recently put to circulation, concerning the negotiation alleged to be pending for the arrangement of the difficulties between the Governments of the United States and Great Britain. I think may now be taken for granted that neither has any treaty heem concluded here upon the sub-lycit, nor has any reconstitution been concluded bere upon the sub-lycit, nor has any negotiation been set on foot in the British capital.

The above appears in last evening's Con-And yet the fact that a Treaty has been framed and signed by Secretary Clayton and Sir H. I Bulwer for the complete and final adjustment of all differences or causes of difference between the two nations in regard to any portion of Central America, including Nicaragua and the Mosquit-Coast, is just as cortain as that the sun rose yes terday. The importance, in a pecuniary point of view, of using the Road, at an early day, is amove by appeadix B, by which if will be become very that the extra expense of traveling between the United States and California is seathmated at 847,750,000 a year, over and above what it will be after the fairceal is in use.

The arguments in favor of the plan are fully elucidated in the appendix. By moving for this plan, the friends of the impeasure will, by use single effort, viz. The gassing of the act, secure the completion of the Road in the shortest possible time; whereas, if they adopt any plan which realise on limits created by the sale of the land, or on a large amount of faults from private individuals, or on faults to a from time to time appropriated by Congress, they will impose open themselves the never-ceasing jobor of Stayphos, and by the delay waste snormous sums for the Nation.
